

Data Trial Agreement

Version 1.0 · Template effective 1 November 2026 · katelabs.io

This Data Trial Agreement (the “Agreement”) is made between Aleksandr Senkevich, trading as katelabs, Belgrade, Serbia (“katelabs”), and the organisation named in the signature block (the “Evaluator”). It takes effect on the date katelabs first makes trial data available to the Evaluator (the “Start Date”).

1. Purpose

katelabs grants the Evaluator access to a defined portion of its dataset of scored cryptocurrency news headlines (the “Trial Data”) so that the Evaluator can assess whether to enter into a data licence. The Trial Data, its scope and the delivery method are described in Schedule 1.

2. Term

The trial lasts 30 days from the Start Date unless the parties agree an extension in writing (email suffices). Either party may end the trial earlier on written notice. Sections 4 to 9 survive the end of the trial.

3. Fees

The trial is free of charge. No obligation to license arises from it.

4. Permitted use

1. The Evaluator may use the Trial Data only for internal evaluation: loading it, inspecting it, backtesting, building and testing models, and preparing an internal assessment.
2. The Evaluator may not: redistribute, sell, sublicense or publish the Trial Data or any substantial extract of it; use it in a live trading system or any production service; use it to train a model that is itself distributed or offered to third parties; use it to build or improve a competing dataset; or attempt to reconstruct the scoring method.
3. Access is limited to the Evaluator's employees and contractors who need it for the evaluation and are bound by confidentiality obligations no less protective than this Agreement.
4. Aggregate findings of the evaluation (for example “the data improved our model by X”) may be shared inside the Evaluator's organisation without restriction and with katelabs at the Evaluator's discretion.

5. Intellectual property

The Trial Data, including scores, types, asset tags, timestamps, the index and the data dictionary, remains the property of katelabs. Headline text and summaries remain the property of their publishers and are provided as short attributed excerpts for analysis. Models, results and reports the Evaluator creates belong to the Evaluator, provided they do not contain the Trial Data itself in extractable form. No rights are granted except those stated here.

6. Confidentiality

Each party keeps confidential the other's non-public information disclosed in connection with the trial, including the Trial Data, the Evaluator's use case, and commercial terms discussed. The obligation lasts for three years after the trial ends and does not apply to information that is public through no fault of the receiving party, was already lawfully known to it, or must be disclosed by law, in which case the disclosing party is notified where lawful.

7. Data integrity and limitations katelabs represents that the Trial Data is delivered as it was recorded at the time of collection, that scores and types were assigned at ingestion and have not been revised, and that each record is traceable to a public source. The Trial Data is provided “as is” for evaluation. katelabs gives no warranty of completeness, accuracy, fitness for a particular purpose or future performance, and the Trial Data is not investment advice. Known limitations are described in the data dictionary and in research note 4.

8. Liability

Neither party is liable to the other for indirect or consequential loss, lost profits or trading losses arising from the trial. Each party's total liability under this Agreement is limited to EUR 1,000, except for breach of Sections 4 or 6, or liability that cannot be limited by law.

9. End of trial

Within ten business days after the trial ends, unless a licence has been signed, the Evaluator deletes the Trial Data and derived copies from its systems, except for backups deleted in the ordinary cycle and results that do not contain the Trial Data in extractable form, and confirms deletion by email on request.

10. General

This Agreement is the entire agreement about the trial and replaces earlier discussions on the subject. It may be amended only in writing. It is governed by the laws of the Republic of Serbia; the parties will first attempt to settle any dispute by negotiation, failing which the courts of Belgrade have jurisdiction, unless a signed licence provides otherwise. Notices are given by email to the addresses in the signature block.

Schedule 1 — Trial Data

- Content: scored headline records (publication time, ingestion time, scoring time, assets, score, type, source, domain, title, summary, URL) and, where agreed, the per-asset news index.
- Scope: a slice of the dataset covering the 30 calendar days before the Start Date, for the assets stated in the delivery email (standard: all assets of the index universe), plus the data dictionary. The slice is a one-off extract: it is not updated during the trial and does not include the live feed.

- Delivery: CSV or Parquet files over an authenticated HTTPS link, sent once on the Start Date.
- Support: questions by email, answered within one business day during the trial.
